

Trusted Technical Expertise

Jacksonville Courier Services

Don't have time to deliver your samples to the lab?

We offer convenient courier services that include daily sample pick-up and delivery from your office or project site to our Jacksonville Laboratory.

Using Columbia Analytical couriers will help to ensure that your samples are not only delivered on-time, but that the integrity of your samples is preserved throughout the entire chain of custody.

To optimize Columbia Analytical's courier services you will work directly with one of our experienced project managers to schedule your project in advance. Working with our project managers will make certain that you are getting the best personalized attention available.
